Route to follow

Activity

Several teams come together, to complete a route planned formerly, materialised by specific photos of the visited site (see annexes)

In order to know, that the route was accomplished, a photo of each part of the route with the majority of the entire team must be taken (selfie pictures) and show at the end of the path to a judge.

Variants to consider to activity:

- It is possible to entrust a number to each member of the team (for taking the photos) and these numbers must then appear on each photograph.
- Or you can ask each team to find a letter/word at each part of the path and to show it on each photo. But this resembles a treasure hunt.

Prolongements :

- To divide two teams equally. It is possible to ask a question about the visit of the site. However, this must be made public before each visit.
- It is interesting to propose to each team to assemble all photos taken during the day (reminder of a monument) into a
- montage photograph
